EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN]

The Connecticut Election.

HARTFORD, April 5—The election is proceeding quietly in this city Weather good but traveling in the country bad. There will be a tolerably full vote. The polls do not close until 5 o'clock and returns will be made until after that hour. The State and this congressional district are so close it is impossible to state the general result Gen. Hawley's friends believe he will be elected The Republicans have hopes of carrying the legislature, which will be likely to have to elect State officers.

HARTFORD Conn April 5—Forty towns in the State give Ingersoll (Dem) for Governor 11 1 8 Greene, (Rep.) 8 608 Smith (Prohibition) 702 In the same towns last year Ingersoll (Dem.) received 9,088 Harrison, (Rep) 7 828 Smith (Prohibition) 941. Ingersoll will probably be elected by the people. The Legislature, so far as heard from is about the same as last year Hawley will probably be defeated in the first district by from 000 to 4 000

Black Hills Expedition—Gold Specimens.

CHICAGO, April 5—Specials from Sioux City report a Black Hills expedition numbering about 150 men that will leave Sioux City to-day for the mines. Two men, William and Walter Owens have returned to Yankton from the Black Hills whither they went February last on a trapping expedition. They bring back with them about a dozen specimens of shot gold which they procured in small streams running into the South Fork of the Cheyenne. They left four companions in the Hills and will return in a few days with supplies They report meeting several bands of Brule and Teton Sioux, both coming out and going in and had a peaceful chat with them the Owens speaking the Indian language.

All Quiet in the Coal Mines.

POTTSVILLE, April 5—Telegrams from the coal region represent all quiet though trouble is apprehended to-morrow when coal trains begin moving

WASHINGTON CITY.

The New U. S. Treasurer Commissioned

WASHINGTON, April 5—The commission of John C. New to be Treasurer of the United States takes effect from June 30 1875 It was signed by the President to day

The Texas Border Troubles.

WASHINGTON April 5—The President stated to day with relation to the recent troubles on the Texas frontier that he had not expressed his views to any one, not even to the Secretary of State, who, like himself had been absent from the city. Orders had been given to the military for the protection of our citizens on the frontier but nothing had been done. The government was not yet fully advised of the extent of the outrages although he had been officially informed of the arrest of the mail carrier, and burning of the postoffice by invaders. The Mexican government had repeatedly been reminded of outrages heretofore committed by Mexicans upon citizens of the United States, both in Mexico and the United States It would hear from this government in a short time about those more recently committed through the Department of State There would be consultation with the Secretary of State on the subject and probably would be brought to the attention of the Cabinet. We would determine hereafter what is proper to be done in the premises. He could see no reason for apprehension of war between the two countries but of course, no one could tell what might happen in the future. Nothing however would be done by this government to provoke such a result.

Rumored Resignations Untrue.

WASHINGTON, April 5—The President denies there is any truth in the rumors of the resignation or removal of Commissioner Douglas Commissioner of Customs Johnson, First Comptroller Taylor, or Second Comptroller Brodhead.

The Peruvian Mission.

There is a vacancy in the ministry to Peru caused by the resignation of Minister Thomas but his successor is not yet elected.

THE TILTON-BEECHER TRIAL.

Crowd Still Growing.

NEW YORK, April 5—A larger crowd than on any previous day sought admission to the Beecher trial this morning. Upon the formal opening of court Judge Neilson cautioned the audience against making demonstrations of applause.

Beecher Resumed

The stand, and was handed the so-called letter of contrition. He testified that at the time this paper was drawn up at the interview with Moulton in witness' study, he believed Moulton's stories of Tilton's innocence and he was glad to believe them He was asked if the paper was his He replied it was in no sense of the word his He was asked was it his composition or did he dictate it

Fullerton objected to this question but the court decided to allow it The witness continued His attention being called to the clause "I ask through you, Theo Tilton's forgiveness" &c. I did not express those words or their equivalent that night I did say that in view of the statements I had made, I felt I had wronged him and had humbled myself before God and was willing to humble myself before Theo Tilton. In that conversation I repelled the idea that I was acting consciously wrong. The words, "I wish that I were dead" &c are not my phraseology and did not express any feelings of sorrow I was not in a logical mood and am afraid I mixed my metaphors I didn't use the phrase "I will die before any one but myself shall be incumbered" I did express myself strongly that I would sooner die than have caused such trouble This was the strong feeling of remorse at the mischief which seemed to have been committed by me Very likely I expressed the phrase about "The poor child lying there with closed eyes" &c, in substance, but not in that form. I saw her, who had been a dear child and friend of mine lying there like one dead. Very likely I used the words, "She is guiltless and bore the sins of another." I had been intimate in the household for many years and if I had been the cause of her distress I took the blame to myself and did so until the year 1874 The words "Her forgiveness" I have humbly prayed God that He may put it into the heart of her husband to forgive me," is not my dictation. May have said "I have done Elizabeth incalculable wrong but not that she had forgiven me and I was awaiting her husband's forgiveness Moulton tried to impress on me that Tilton was impressed with the belief that I was an enemy to him and if he could only hear my sentiments he would change the opinion

Evarts showed witness a letter dated June 1 1873 written by him to Moulton in which he referred to a letter sent through Moulton, and asked Beecher what he referred to.

Witness said—"It refers to this letter that I hold in my hand."

Witness continued "In my interview with Tilton, Dec. 30 I don't recollect making any reference to Dante's Inferno During that interview he did not accuse me of adultery with his wife nor intimate to me that his wife had accused me to him of adultery. There was no such question topic or allusion made in any manner whatever There was nothing but the memorandum read about improper solicitation. There was no allusion to arguments by which I had triumphed over her chastity

Witness testified that on the 2d of January 1871 his house was open to receive calls from 10 until 7 He thought about 800 calls were received judging from the usual number had only the most shadowy impression that Tilton called but there could have been no conference of any kind There was none Witness did not go up stairs or into his study with Moulton that day nor was there any conversation with Moulton about the propriety of the sale of Plymouth pews There was no conversation with him about the letter Tilton was writing or about to write to Bowen

On the 3d of January or thereabouts, there was an interview between witness and Moulton at the latter's house in his chamber he being in bed witness thought from sickness though he was sometimes in bed on account of late hours While witness was there Tilton came in I had had no intercourse with him since the 30th of December There was no salutation between us Moulton began by referring to the conversation between him and me and was proceeding to tell Tilton something I said to him when I struck in I had been telling Moulton of Tilton and of his hard position and circumstances It was not a prolonged conversation but something of that character After Moulton told him I spoke to Tilton, and I told him how sorry I was at being concerned in any way with his misfortunes He had suffered from Bowen also of the unhappiness which was in his house I said I would do all in my power to help him. Moulton said this was an apology which any gentleman would accept He said "Theodore you ought to accept this apology when he expresses regret for the past and promises to help in the future Tilton then accepted the apology We shook hands and Tilton withdrew I don't think there was any talk of charges made by Mrs. Tilton on this occasion After Tilton left I don't remember much what past between Moulton and myself There wasn't such thing said by Moulton when Tilton came in as "He has done all that man could do except to make a public statement of the facts" or anything to that effect. There was not a word said to me by Tilton about how could he be expected to forgive a man who had ruined his home and family I didn't say I would bow my head and go out of public life or ask whether it would be better to sell Plymouth church Made no statement with regard to suicide or going to the verge and there was nothing at that interview said about Tilton desiring to give publicity to the matter There was nothing said about informing my wife I felt that I could [illegible] my enemy or that to refrain from telling her would be in violation of [illegible] I said on that occasion my feeling wasn't for myself, but for Elizabeth and that her age and experience ought to have led me to avoid this I didn't say that the relation between myself and Elizabeth had always been marked by sexual intercourse It is barely false. I didn't say "How could I offer any mitigation for myself that my sexual intercourse had been for love and not for lust" Such questions were not put at that time I may have had conversations about my reading to her but not at that interview I never said on that occasion I sought the companionship of Elizabeth I don't remember asking Tilton before he went away if he could reinstate Elizabeth in his affections I didn't use the expression about a man sitting on the brink nor say I was like a man sitting on the edge of hell. I may have told him I had written a letter to Bowen taking back a great deal I had said about Tilton I wrote such a letter that morning before the interview From that up to the 15th or 11th of the month I saw Moulton for a short space of time in which we had brief conversations It was some time in February before I had the talk with him about Tilton's business—about how to reinstate him and build up his household. In one interview between Moulton and myself I think Tilton was present when we talked about "Bowen's treachery towards Tilton and me This was about January 10th I think, I fix all dates by memorandum of lectures Moulton had secured a passable peace between Tilton and myself, and we were talking about the best manner of repairing Tilton's affairs Moulton wanted me to give him an account of the difficulties between myself and Bowen I gave him an account of the interview between Bowen and myself at Freeland's house Told him of Bowen's temperament and manner and I understood Tilton was preparing to exhibit a document which would bring Bowen to a settlement of his difficulties. This was talked about in my presence Moulton asked me if the stories Bowen told Tilton were true and if I was afraid of them I said I was not afraid of them and defied them before the whole world Moulton exhausted his language in the interest of his condemnations of Bowen's course his treachery meanness etc that he meant to use Tilton to destroy me and he would destroy Tilton I told him of my interview with Bowen at Freeland's house and he (Moulton) was horror struck, and asked if such a thing could be possible.

I gave him an account of the reconsideration between Bowen and myself at the close of Friday night in conversation about documents pressing against Bowen The charges against me I don't think were mentioned as being in that document They were not mentioned to me as they were afterward in the letter Moulton said at the same interview about the time that Bowen said I confessed adultery to him, I laughed and denied it If I confessed adultery to Bowen I think I should remember it. Moulton spoke of Tilton's reinstatement as inevitable, and said he wished to see it. He expressed this with such vehemence and determination that I thought he would succeed Moulton didn't say he would not carry Tilton's case into court if he should it would rip up the relations between Tilton and myself He didn't say he would rather pay Tilton himself than do so Moulton wanted witness to hunt up and give him a memorandum of the points used in the discussion between Bowen and witness at Freeland's Witness did so and at this time put all his documents into Moulton's hand The memorandum was in Bowen's writing. Witness was shown and identified a printed copy of the document.

Witness continued After giving Moulton the interview between Bowen and himself at Freeland's he didn't remember expressing his feelings about Tilton Moulton said witness and Tilton must stand together for the sake of Tilton's restoration and see justice done him He said Bowen wanted to arbitrate, but Tilton didn't [illegible] as his adviser

About the 12th or 13th of January witness called to see Moulton and learn the result of his interview with Bowen the preceding day. Moulton described the interview at length and in detail He repeated with great particularity the statement he made to Bowen of his treatment of Tilton the infamy of his conduct in the matter of his letter to me Said he repeated different stories he made about me Said he never told these stories to my face and that at the interview at Freeland's he went over the ground with Beecher and discoursed with him how they would heal the difference how they went to Plymouth church and prayed together that he shook the paper in Bowen's face who was pale as a ghost and that he (Bowen) looked up at my portrait on the wall and said how should he ever be able to face that man again Then Bowen said he was willing to do anything I asked Moulton why he didn't cause the settlement then, he said because the time hadn't come

Witness while delivering the narration of this interview rose in his chair and with a flushed cheek and standing at the edge of the platform shook the paper he held in his hand as he related the part of the interview where Moulton shook the paper in Bowen's face His words and action affected the people in the court room but a rap of the gavel by the judge reminded them they could not manifest approbation by applause.

THE CIVIL RIGHTS LAW

OPINION OF A TENNESSEE JUDGE

MEMPHIS March 22—Judge Emmons of the United States Court to day delivered an elaborate and exhaustive charge to the grand jury in reference to civil rights He said

It is to be regretted that a question of such exceptional importance and one which is producing so much excitement should come before the court in this form at this early hour in the term We are however compelled to decide matters you lay before us The severe penalties imposed by this law upon the prosecuting attorney and other officials will, we are advised be attempted to be enforced should the grand jury fail to indict. To the assumption that their action will be controlled by such officers, unless the court acts every consideration makes it the duty to answer your questions at once You ask whether it is a crime for which you have the right to find an indictment that a negro has been denied the full and equal enjoyment of accommodations advantages facilities and privileges of theaters and inns of the State Such denial is not an offense over which Congress can give the court jurisdiction These are matters which the State Government alone controls Persons who think themselves aggrieved can bring their civil action in this court at once Any decisions we then make can be reviewed by the supreme court

He then gave his reasons for entering into the details of the case, which are mainly the excited condition of the classes whom the law was intended to affect

Until the three recent amendments to the National Constitution which abolished slavery and attempted to protect the civil and political rights of freedmen all parties conceded that the Federal Government had no power whatever to restrain such an offense as this The punishment of murder, arson assault and battery, frauds, injuries to reputation, obstruction to right of attending church public schools, theaters, and forcing the right of being accommodated in inns and by common carriers within the State were matters not only not granted to the General Government but in the constitution itself expressly reserved to the States The vast mass of civil and political rights included in the compendious phrase Right to life liberty and pursuit of happiness, rested entirely under State protection To this familiar and unquestioned truism there was universal assent then and is now The only question presented for judicial determination is have these amendments completely revolutionized the whole character of our Government because it is entirely evident that if Congress has the power of regulating theaters and other places of amusements in Memphis and other cities of the Union this necessarily involves the power of protecting the more sacred and important rights of the colored citizens

He then reviews the Thirteenth Amendment and declares that it abolished slavery and did no more He also reviews at great length the Fourteenth Amendment and says its clause forbidding States to deprive any person of life liberty or property without due process of law or deny to any person equal protection of the laws have no application to this subject They are intended solely to prevent the arbitrary transfer of property from citizen to citizen without legal adjudication or process and prevent the establishment of tribunals for one class of persons varying from those which determine the rights of all. These inhibitions too beyond all controversy, are aimed at the action of the State only, and have no reference to individuals He quotes the decisions in Michigan and Ohio in support of this, and also the slaughter house cases of the Supreme Court (16th Wallace) and then deals at great length with outrages against the colored race and expresses his sympathy with that large and respectable class of our fellow citizens including beyond question a majority of the more Conservative Christian gentlemen of the South who regret their exists nowhere in either government, State or nation the power of punishing these mean and cowardly murderers

OUR SALEM LETTER

SALEM April 5 1875

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

This winter has been one of continual surprises and the last one is the remarkable cold snap that we are now enduring It is the first time for a number of years that we have frozen in the month of April The probable cause is that the Coast Mountains are covered with snow, and as the northwest wind crosses the range it is sufficiently chilled to lower the temperature in the valley below the freezing point I do not propose to charge your readers anything for this explanation of the meteorological phenomenon

On last Friday two convicts attempted to sever their connection with the Oregon Penitentiary in the following manner They manufactured some dummies by stuffing old clothes with straw and placed them in their cell, and finished them with hats and then secreted themselves until supper time Then climbing the walls or rather fence they lit out but being encumbered with Gardner shackles they were unable to make good time and were readily overhauled in a few minutes after being missed and escorted back to their old quarters out of harm's way

On making inquiries I learn that all the prisoners have been leased out to parties according to a law passed by the last Legislature consequently the State Capitol Commissioners will be compelled to obtain brick to be used on the State house this summer by the bid which will most probably cost the State more than to have received the labor of a sufficient number of convicts to manufacture brick for the public building that is in course of construction But by the time the Legislature meets again the system will have been thoroughly tested

On Saturday afternoon the bids for carpenter work and lumber were opened Mr John Oderkirk of Portland for carpenter work was the lowest responsible bid His bid was $1 890 and for lumber the Capitol Lumber Co of this city was 4 635 33 The contracts let aggregated the full amount that they had set aside from this year's operation which is $40 000 and are expected to enclose the building

To morrow (Monday) Salem will endure another political spasm as there can be no election of any kind but politics must be strictly adhered to The Republican is Mr A B Crossman and the Independent Democratic candidate is I I Williams the present incumbent

On last Thursday evening Prof F W Day gave a grand bal masque and as it was the first that had ever been given in this city there was considerable curiosity felt by the citizens generally and by the participants in particular and as each representative character entered they were curiously inspected to ascertain the character assumed and who the actor was Some of the ladies were in beautiful and costly costumes and invariably carried out the assumed specialties with grace and dignity Some of the gentlemen were appropriately costumed in representation of historical celebrities while others were grotesquely attired and tried to be ineffably funny But taking the make-up as a whole it was good while everything passed off without a single case of discord to mar the harmony of the occasion and when the order was given for all to unmask as they were on the floor for a quadrille the astonishment of many was great when they discovered who their partners were and considerable merriment caused thereat There was a large audience present who amused themselves in guessing who certain individuals were, and found that they had entirely mistaken the persons

At 2 o clock this (Sunday) morning the gallant firemen and others who were interested, were aroused by the fire bell proclaiming that the fire-fiend had again visited this quiet place The call was quickly responded to, and in a very few minutes the engines were speeding away to Piety Hill where the red glare proclaimed the work of destruction going on But arriving at the fire it was found to be an old tannery building that had been unoccupied for several years The fire was the work of an incendiary and was not worth the run and hard work of dragging the engines almost a mile through the mud The boys threw a little water, then wisely concluded to let the building burn down thereby saving another occasion of a long run

I learn that the Willamette Woolen Mills will soon shut down for a short time probably for the purpose of awaiting the incoming crop of wool

The river at this place is now nineteen feet above low water mark, but the cold weather will send it down with a rattle

Misses Louisa and Mollie Smith of the Chemeketa House will give a dancing party on the 8th inst which will undoubtedly be a nice affair

The Chinese portion of our population chartered one of the large omnibuses and repaired to the Odd Fellows Rural Cemetery to observe a religious exercise to day at the graves of their deceased brethren, by a feast, considerable talking incantations &c which looked like a strange procedure to several Anglo-Americans who happened to be at that residence of the 'silent majority' but presume it is all right if they are satisfied, as many of our customs must look equally as ridiculous to them

TO THE FARMERS OF OREGON

ALBANY March 29 1875

Gentlemen Having been selected by the Centennial Board of Commissioners of this State as a superintendent of the cereal department or to work in conjunction with the board of commissioners for the purpose of collecting together the best varieties of cereals to send forward to the Centennial Exhibition at Philadelphia, next year I desire to call your attention to the fact that the different varieties of grain and seed will have to be raised or produced this summer This is a work, if properly carried out, that will be of lasting benefit to this State and the people thereof It is a work that one man cannot do as it should be done Therefore, farmers of Oregon come to the front and assist me in bringing together all and everything in the grain and seed department that is worthy in order to make a first class exhibit As this great work depends on you and me let us set this State before the outer world as it should be Then I repeat come to the front By a combined effort we can succeed and do honor to ourselves and the State Raise wheat rye barley and oats of various kinds Thrashed and in sack two bushels of each variety Also a sheaf of each variety's longest growth Best headed Grass seed a peck of each variety and sheaf of the same I design showing to the world the growth of our wheat rye barley and oats in sheaf as this I think will be the greatest advertisement to Oregon that could be obtained

All samples of grain and grass seed intended for the Centennial Exhibition will be carried over the railroads and rivers free of charge in this State to Portland where there is a storehouse in readiness for their reception Mark A J Dufur, Portland where there will be a competent person to receive and box them Any one intending to send samples of any of the above grain seeds or anything else in my department will notify me of the space required for their lot when placed on the tables at Philadelphia so that I may be able to notify the director general of the amount of space required from this State for that department

All newspapers of Oregon who feel inclined to assist in developing the resources of this State will please give space in their columns to the above

MIXED HUSBANDRY

ONE EXAMPLE OF ITS BENEFITS

OREGON CITY April 3 1875

Heavy rain and occasional hail showers still prevail with intervals of high winds and glimpses of sunshine The rivers and creeks are unusually high The Wallamet river has not been so high for some years The body of water rushing over the falls at Oregon City is a grand sight well worth a visit at this time Farming so far as plowing and sowing are concerned is at a dead stand but the rain is a grand fertilizer The farmers can well afford to be patient when they know that these warm rain showers are rendering their fields fruitful, and are the cause of their crops never failing and the source of their future wealth.

MIXED HUSBANDRY

Is one of the pressing wants of the farmers of Oregon Wheat is and will continue to be the staple crop of the Wallamet and other valleys of the State Every farmer should raise so many sheep and hogs every year The production of these and other stock should be sufficient to pay a large portion of the working expenses of the farm, while the profits of the wheat crop should be laid up as a reserve fund or invested in some paying enterprise connected with the farm It is not the large number of stock that pays well but such a number as the farm will support in good condition and the animals of high grades or thoroughbred One thoroughbred sheep or hog with proper care, will pay better than three or four scrubs

MR. JOHN MINTO,

Of Salem is a good example of the truth of these statements He commenced his sheep husbandry with five thoroughbred merinos that cost him $100 each Now he has 120 thoroughbred Spanish French and American merinos and 110 high grades From this flock he sold last year $600 worth of wool $1 600 worth of thoroughbred merinos and $400 worth of high grades making in all $2,600, showing an average profit of $10 for each sheep in his flock While ordinary wool sold from 25 to 28 cents a pound he got 33 cents When common stock sheep were sold from $2 50 to $3 a head, he sold his thoroughbred lambs for $25 each, year olds from $40 to $100 each and high graded merinos for $15 each Common sheep produce an average fleece of four pounds of wool, his thoroughbred bucks yielded from 15 to 20 pounds and his ewes averaged nine pounds I send you a few samples of combing wool from his flock of full blooded merino sheep, adapted for making the finest class of ladies dress goods and a few samples of combing wool of Leicester blood crossed with merino blood From these it will be seen that blood will tell in sheep as well as in other animals

Mr Minto is no solitary case in the State illustrative of the profitable results of raising thoroughbred sheep There are many others that are reaping the advantages of pursuing the same course not only in sheep but in cattle, horses hogs and poultry Among the number may be mentioned his two neighbors Mr T L Davidson and the Rev J L Parrish Both these gentlemen have done much to raise the character of the State for thoroughbred sheep and the latter has done more than any other that we know of for raising the largest number and the greatest variety of thoroughbred poultry

A PAINFUL FACT

Notwithstanding that butter is selling from forty to fifty cents a pound, there is not a tenth part of the butter raised in the State at this season of the year to supply the wants of consumers—and the imported article from San Francisco and the East is a nuisance—the smell of it is almost sufficient to kill one. It is no compliment to the farmers' wives and daughters of the Wallamet Valley to state that with numerous cattle on the farm and plenty of feed, butter enough is not raised to supply their own tables and of course none for market When a few pounds of fresh butter comes to any of the valley towns there are twenty applicants for it If farmers and their wives can make money in New York State, with long winters expensive stock and dear feed in making butter at from twelve to fifteen cents a pound what a handsome income could be made in Oregon from the same source, at prices from thirty to fifty cents a pound There is not a farmer's wife in the Wallamet Valley that should not be able to pay nearly all the domestic accounts from the sales of butter and cheese chickens and eggs When there is a thorough co operation among the farmers in turning everything to advantage on the outside their wives pursuing the same course on the inside every member of the family having some profitable industry and responsibility assigned him or her and all waste and extravagance avoided farmers will soon be free of debt, become rich and independent The farmers will then be in a position to adopt as a fundamental principle—the buy and sell for cash only This principle put into general practice would be a saving to the average farming community of fifty per cent a year including reduction in prices refraining from unnecessary purchases by reason of the cash system "Owe no man anything but good deeds" is the apostolic injunction "I speak as to wise men, judge ye what I say

It is a painful sight to see court houses, public halls, school rooms, colleges, and many private houses defiled with tobacco spewings Every housekeeper should have printed in large characters and placed in her hall No tobacco chewing allowed in this house! Every young lady with any pretensions to good taste and refinement should by every means let it be understood she prizes the company of all who eschew this filthy habit These are practical suggestions that will tell for good on the morals and pecuniary advantages of the community

NORTHWEST

A FAMILY POISONED.

CHICAGO Ill March 16—A mysterious case of poisoning occurred Sunday night in the family of Theodore Molinski a Polish shoemaker residing at No 27, Cleaver street The family retired at 11 o'clock, and at midnight their infant aged 18 months, awoke crying and the mother gave it some tea. As she returned to bed Mrs Molinski complained of feeling uncomfortably and when Mr Molinski awoke in the morning he discovered that his wife and daughter Constance aged 3 years were dead and three other daughters very ill He made no effort to apprise the neighbors of the facts and the condition of affairs was only discovered late in the afternoon by a policeman who found Molinski sitting on a table eating bread He complained of feeling very badly and said he was unable to get out of the house He was arrested on suspicion of poisoning the family Of the remaining children the infant, Victoria has since died Josephine aged 16 will probably die and Elizabeth aged 9 years may recover Molinski is well spoken of by his neighbors and he seems incapable of committing such a crime

ALLEGED FRAUDS IN CONNECTION WITH POST OFFICE BUILDING AT BOSTON—BOSTON March 27th—Frauds in the construction of the new Postoffice are now freely talked of, and this afternoon the announcement was made that the books of Superintendent Flood had been seized by the special agent Flood however, says he voluntarily surrendered the books to aid the investigation now making President Young, of the State Senate made a half hour speech to day to show that he has no connection with the so called Postoffice Ring

When a citizen of Great Britain arrived in Wilkesbarre the other day and found that his wife who had come to this country twelve years before was married to another man he drove his successor from the house and gave his first love and her daughter a terrific beating It is the constant recurrence of such little incidents as these that are gradually undermining the public faith in that Enoch Arden story —Louisville Courier Journal

E Jacobs last week showed the Jacksonville Times a couple of ancient coins belonging to J D Cook, a merchant of San Francisco One was a Jewish coin called the "Machses Shekel" which is over five thousand years old, the other a piece of the Roman Empire and dated 1513. They were of an ancient and unique appearance and are scarce in this country

The Times says "During the recent heavy wind storm, Link river was blown almost dry, whereupon some Linkvilleites thought it a good opportunity to practically illustrate the children of Israel crossing the Red Sea; but having little faith, and as there was no enemy behind them the thing was a failure. A few Modocs at the right time and at the right end, would have made a grand success of the affair"

Samuel Colver, with others, a short time ago lost some head of horses in Lake county by their being stolen Col J N T Miller, of Jackson county, is also reported as one of the losers An organized band of horse-thieves seems to infest that section as animals on various other occasions have been missed and never recovered These depredations have become so frequent that the people who suspected little wrong at first, are becoming aroused and the thieves will suffer detection ere long

Mr J W Henderson of Luckiamute, had a narrow escape from drowning one day last week He had started to Dallas and had come along all right until he arrived at a little stream that empties into the Luckiamute which he attempted to cross The bed of the stream was very rough and would have been difficult to cross even in the summer, but rendered almost impassable now, owing to the recent rains He plunged in however and succeeded in getting across but his horse fell back into the stream was carried down into the Luckiamute and drowned

The Democrat tells a funny joke and says its truth can be vouched for It occurred at a prominent church in Grand Ronde valley It seems that a worthy deacon had been very industrious in selling a new church book costing 75 cents At the service in question the minister just before dismissing the congregation rose and said "All ye who have children to baptize will please to present them next Sabbath" The deacon who by the way is a little deaf, having an eye on selling the books, and supposing the pastor was referring to them immediately jumped up and shouted "All who haven't can get as many as you want by calling on me at 75 cents each

The Democrat says "Let the people of Baker county think upon the subject of forming a construction company with fifty or seventy five thousand dollars capital stock, in shares of $100 the stock to be paid in labor grub timber, &c to be done and delivered in our county on the line of the railroad This amount of work, labor material &c will grade and tie the road in and through our county to Baker City and for the labor performed our citizens can take transportation script or stock from the railroad company in payment for the amount of and we give to the road in this way and thereby be certain to receive a direct equivalent for the aid we give, besides enhancing the value of all the property in the county at least 100 per cent.

TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 6, 1875.

CARL SCHURZ.

It is within bounds to say that no man has retired from the United States Senate during the quarter of century last past so much and so generally regretted as Carl Schurz. His career as a Senator has been one of unusual activity and usefulness. He is a Republican, but not a partisan in the more recent meaning of that term. He is so firmly fixed in his Republican principles that he has been able to defy alike the anathemas of those who have seized upon the organization of the party for selfish and unrepublican objects, and the blandishments of those Democratic politicians who thought the discontinuance by him of affiliation with the Republican (so-called) managers might afford an opportunity to secure the benefit of his vast talents and influence on the side of the Democracy. Though foreign born, and though he did not come to America until he had reached mature manhood, high authority in this country has declared him the most thoroughly and familiarly acquainted with the political and commercial history of the United States of any man in the Republic. In the discussion of the many important questions of finance, commerce and social statics generally, which came before the Senate during the last two or three years of his term, he displayed a command of almost prodigious resources of information, foreign and domestic, bearing on the subject in hand. And when he approached the great questions of constitutional law which have so agitated the public mind lately, he was no less at home than in those matters which may be considered not so peculiarly American in their nature.

But that which more than anything else makes the retirement of Schurz a loss to the country, is that all his immense resources were used in the interest of sound policy and good government. His views were those of a broader statesmanship than guides the course of most of our latter-day politicians and publicists,—even the best average of them—and to these views he was ever conscientiously loyal. The country could ill afford, in these times, to lose the services of one such man. Its greatest need is more of them, and certainly not the least of its misfortunes, nor the least ominous fact in connection with the politics of the period, is, that such a man, because he was too true to principle to subscribe to heretical sentiments even for the sake of retaining his high position, could be sent into retirement and his place in the Senate be filled by a person whose sole claim to the honor seems to have been that a dozen years ago he bore a somewhat conspicuous part in an attempt to break up and destroy the government.

WILL THEY FORM ON SOME OTHER LINE?

The Chicago Tribune of March 23d has the following:

> Private letters received from Arkansas show that there is already a split among the adherents of the Garland Government. Garland has always been a National Whig, and a considerable number of his supporters were Whigs, but the rank and file are Bourbons, and now that the General Government has recognized Garland, and the trouble with Brooks' carpet-bag people is ended, the old traditional feud between Bourbons and Whigs is revived. The Bourbons claim the right of absolute control, which the Whigs refuse to recognize.

From the facts here stated the Tribune reasons that the political outlook in Arkansas is decidedly more hopeful than heretofore, basing its opinion to that effect on the proposition that the division of the white people on the line of the old Whig and Bourbon parties will do away with the tendency to form on the color line, and practically put the negro question out of politics. The Tribune also thinks there is ground to hope a similar process of reorganization on the ancient issues will soon develop in other of the Southern States, and says Tennessee is already ripe for the change. We can not but fear the Tribune is rather more sanguine than the facts in the premises, and the signs of the times generally, will justify; but there can be no doubt the Tribune is right in supposing that such a shifting of the line of political division from the question of color to some question, on which both the whites and blacks would arrange themselves in equal or nearly equal numbers on either side, would be a great blessing to the people immediately concerned, besides removing a standing menace against the peace of the whole country.

THE NON-PARTISAN ELECTION.

It is now but two years since the OREGONIAN was denounced by the Bulletin and the crowd that paper spoke for, as a treacherous copperhead sheet, for urging the people of Portland to put a stop to the hurtful practice that had prevailed before that time, of making a party issue in the school elections. The people on that day sustained the position of the OREGONIAN, though not without a sharp contest. Yesterday there was an election, in which nobody thought of asking whether any candidate was a Democrat or a Republican; and for the office of director the entire vote, saving one ballot, was cast for one man. That, we take it, means either that the Bulletin's faction have seen the error of their way of running school elections, and taken the better course then urged by this paper, or that the Bulletin has lost its entire following. It may be the latter hypothesis is the true one, and that the single vote cast for Giltner was that of the Bulletin editor, whose gang has been reduced to one; but we scarcely believe that is the case. At all events it is a good thing for the schools and for the taxpayers, that at last a unanimous agreement has been reached that there shall be no politics in school elections.

MORTON AND EDMUNDS.

Next to the effort of Judge Christiancy in opposition to the admission of Pinchback as a Senator, and some think fully equal to that effort, was the speech of Judge Edmunds, of Vermont, a life-long Republican, who took the same side. Edmunds' speech caused quite a flutter among the leaders of ring politics, and produced the passage at arms described in the following report which we clip from the Philadelphia Times:

> Senator Morton closed the debate with an able partisan speech, in which he severely reprimanded the Republican Senators who had dared to forget their allegiance to their party and assist the Democrats to secure another Senator from Louisiana. He told Mr. Edmunds that he had never heard a more partisan speech in his life than the one he made to-day. It was all one-sided. There was not one word of censure for the many outrages committed by the White Leaguers—not a word of condemnation for the thousands of murders which had been perpetrated by the unregenerate rebels who were hunting the poor defenseless negroes to death. It was one of the best Democratic speeches he had ever listened to. Mr. Edmunds interrupted Mr. Morton by stating that his friend from Indiana had certainly not listened carefully to his remarks. As to the other remark about his speech being the best Democratic effort he had ever heard, he thought he did himself injustice. He unquestionably heard a better Democratic speech when he made that kind himself a few years since. This riled Mr. Morton very much. He had not made a Democratic speech since 1852, and if he had not fully obtained forgiveness for that long since, he certainly never would in this world.

AN EVIL THAT IS EVERYWHERE.

Governor Tilden, of New York, in his special message to the Legislature on the canals of the State, takes occasion to pass under review the prevailing disposition to make profit out of public office; and in doing so makes use of the following language, which is applicable, as the Chicago Tribune well says, not only to New York, but to almost—why say almost?—all other localities in this country:

> It is not merely in the general laxity and demoralization of official and political life that we are to look for the causes of these evils. The class which fattens on abuses of public expenditure is intelligent, energetic, and persistent. Acting as a unit, it takes part through its members in the organization and the doings of both political parties; seeks to control nominations; rewards friends and punishes enemies; and it begins to operate by every form of seductive and coercive influence upon public officers as soon as they are elected. The vast mass of tax-payers are occupied in their daily industries, on their farms and in their workshops, and cannot easily, and do not in fact, make a business of politics. In a silent contest with the tax-consumers they are often practically unrepresented. It is only when they are aroused and organized, and can find representatives whom they trust, that they protect themselves and overwhelm all resistance. Useless works in the specious garb of improvements are undertaken, because of the indifference of the public officers, the inertness of the tax-payers, the indefatigable efforts of an influence seeking a benefit for its locality, which costs it an insignificant share of the burden imposed on the people; or the eager activity of the class who seek profit in contracts in construction, without reference to the utility of the work. Vertical walls are made to provide wharves for private individuals, and bridges where no public interest requires them. Fictitious improvements are contrived to supply profitable jobs. Work of real utility is made to cost greatly more than its actual value.

We find the following obituary notice in the Washington Chronicle of March 21:

> "Browny," a valuable and spirited horse, died in the stables of the President, a little southwest of the Executive Mansion, yesterday morning. The animal belonged to Mrs. Colonel Fred. Grant, and was a present to her. It was sent here from Chicago some two months ago, and since then has been worked but little until last week, when it was driven to Seneca by Colonel Grant and others who went to that neighborhood on a hunting excursion.

There is evidently some mistake about the horse's being a present to Mrs. Colonel Fred. Grant.

The opinion of Judge Emmons, of the U. S. Circuit Court, which we publish this morning, holding the lately passed Civil Rights bill unconstitutional, cannot fail to command general attention. His argument is substantially the same as that used by Senator Carpenter in opposition to the passage of the bill.

LETTER FROM CORVALLIS.

WILL THE WINTER EVER "DRY UP?"—JUDGE DEADY'S LECTURE.

CORVALLIS, April 3, 1875.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

There is but little news in this part of Webfoot. The picturesque hills to the west of us are green, and our shrubs are "putting forth the tender leaves of hope," with a precocity that must astonish the unwonted snow-flakes. The habits of the Wallamet river are becoming somewhat rude and boisterous. Many of the farmers are late, and think it time for winter to "dry up."

Our people are delighted with the lecture of Judge Deady. Everybody and his wife were out to hear it, and have praised it with much unanimity. The Gazette says:

> Judge Deady's lecture, last Wednesday evening, for the benefit of the Corvallis Library, was well attended, notwithstanding the rain, which was falling fast at the time. The subject, "Politics and the Pulpit," was handled in a masterly manner, by the learned and polished lecturer, and was listened to by the intelligent, and appreciative audience, with marked attention. As a clear, logical thinker, Judge Deady has few, if any, equals on this coast. The productions of his pen could not be otherwise than an intellectual treat. The Corvallis brass band, as on former occasions, kindly volunteered their services, and rendered excellent music, while the select choir, under the leadership of Prof. White, covered itself with glory. Miss Viola Briggs presided at the organ. Everybody seemed well pleased, and fully paid for a tramp in the rain.

The Democrat says:

> "POLITICS IN THE PULPIT."—The lecture delivered at the Presbyterian church last Wednesday evening by Hon. M. P. Deady, under the above caption, was listened to with marked attention by a large audience and it is indeed a masterly production, plainly and forcibly pointing out the evils of mingling politics with religion, and condemning those who, while ostensibly laboring for the salvation of mankind, devote their energies more to the promulgation of political principles than the gospel. The singing of the choir was excellent and highly appreciated by the audience, while the brass band played a couple of pieces in a very creditable manner.

Judge Deady received calls from all the old citizens and members of the bar, at the hotel, and it is hoped his visit to Corvallis was as agreeable to him as it was pleasant to our people. Yours truly,

F. A. CHENOWETH.

THE BLACK HILLS.—Sioux City, Iowa, March 23.—Considerable excitement is caused here by the reception of several letters from a Sioux City party in the Black Hills dated March 6th, giving a description of the discovery of an extensive silver lead, all claiming it to be very rich. They not knowing for a certainty, and having no means for testing it, immediately started one of their number to Denver to have it tested. The messenger, J. J. Williams, arrived at Laramie on the 17th inst., and mailed letters from there, and also wrote to John Gordon, stating that they had found rich silver; that the party were in good health, and rather low in spirits on account of short rations, with no immediate prospect of replenishing their stock. The weather on the 6th of March was cold, the thermometer marking 20° below zero.

The following story is told about a Dunkirk man: "On St. Valentine's day he bought ten of the ugliest valentines he could find, each one caricaturing some well known fault or foible of his wife, and sent them to her. While the poor woman was crying over them and wondering if there really were ten people in the community who thought so meanly of her, the boy of the family said: 'Pa, are those the pictures you bought at the store where you got my whistle?'"

MARRIED.

March 28, Emil DeRoboam and Rosa Schmiding, all of Jackson county.

DIED.

A NEW SCHOOL FOR YOUNG GIRLS,

AN ANGLO-GERMAN INSTITUTION TO MEET the particular wants of those who desire to secure for their children a good education in the English and the German Language, in one as well as the other, has of late been opened in the Chapel of the German Evangelical Reformed Congregation of this city, on Washington street, below Third street, by Rev. JOHN GANTENBEIN, Pastor of the Church, with two of his daughters as Teachers. French, Instrumental and Vocal Music, Drawing and Ornamental Needle Work, besides all the Common School branches, will be taught with efficiency. Yet the principal aim of the Institution is the combination of the two languages, and the education of heart and mind to a character of pure morals and true godliness on the common platform of the people of Israel and the different Christian denominations. In order to establish good habits and a refined, strict discipline in it, the School has been opened without ostentation, with a selection of only 20 girls, mostly below 10 years of age, and from very respectable families and is now prepared to admit new scholars gradually, one after another. Applications for admission may be addressed to the Director of the Institution, Rev. JOHN GANTENBEIN, N. E. corner of Fifth and C streets, or to his daughters, the Teachers in the school, on Washington, below Third street. a3d3t

TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 6, 1875.

CITY.

STATE CAPITOL BUILDING.—The Salem Record says: "The bids for furnishing the lumber and doing the carpenter-work of the State Capitol were opened to-day, and the lowest bids were John Oderkirk, of Portland, $1,69[illegible] and for lumber, Capital Lumbering Company, of Salem, $4,535 37½. The bids for work ranged from $5,060 down to $1,890. The contracts let to this time aggregate about $10,000 which is about what the commissioners have at their disposal the present year. There will also be the cost of tin for the roof to be added and something for hauling. The commissioners will get the roof on, joists and timbers set and all that is necessary done, to enclose the building, and with the amount at their disposal next year they will finish up the interior as much as possible, and provide for the meeting of the legislature."

NEW TELEGRAPHIC LINE.—A letter was recently received from Mr. Gamble, written at San Francisco. The letter stated that the Western Union Telegraph Company had been seriously agitating the subject of building a line up into Idaho Territory. From the letter it is to be inferred that the company have determined to construct the line, and work will probably commence in a few months. The new line will start at or near Winnemucca and extend through to Boise City, a distance of 25[illegible] miles. This line will probably run through the same region of country as the line which has already been built. Mr. Gamble also intimates in his letter that the company have been considering the feasibility and advisability of continuing the line from Boise City on to this city down the Columbia.

DEPARTED.—Gen. O. O. Howard, accompanied by Lieut. Boyle and Capt. Sumner, started yesterday morning for Umatilla. In company with the officers mentioned, Gen. Howard will visit the Indian reservation at Umatilla, and also at Walla Walla. Capt. Sumner and Lieut. Boyle will proceed no further than the last place mentioned. Gen. Howard will proceed from Walla Walla to Fort Colville, for the purpose of inspecting that post. He will be absent from the city probably a month. Major H. Clay Wood, assistant adjutant general, will assume temporary command of the department of the Columbia during the absence of Gen. Howard.

CHILD BURNED.—A little girl, aged about 3 years, the daughter of a Mrs. McBirnie, residing in the upper portion of the city, was badly burned a few evenings since. The mother had occasion to leave the child for a few minutes alone in the room. During the mother's absence the child obtained some matches and, igniting them, set its clothes on fire. The child's cries speedily brought the mother to the rescue. With much difficulty the fire was extinguished, but not till the child was severely burned under the arms and on one side of the face. Although the injuries are quite severe they are not regarded as necessarily dangerous.

LECTURE AND DEBATE.—Quite an interesting meeting was held by the Philomethean Society at their rooms last evening. The entertainment was opened by a lecture well worded and delivered in good style by Mr. Rice on the subject of "The Indian." This was followed by a debate in which the members present all participated. The question discussed was the introduction of the Bible in the public schools, and it was handled quite skillfully. The Society, in a quiet and unostentatious way, is doing much for the mental improvement of its members and is an honor to the young men who sustain it.

FROM HONGKONG.—We were shown a letter yesterday, received by Mr. O. S. Phelps from Capt. Cyrus Noyes, of the bark Garibaldi. The letter was from Hongkong, under date of Feb. 3, 1875. Capt. Noyes states that he had a long and boisterous passage from Astoria to the Sandwich Islands. From the Islands to Hongkong fair winds were encountered, and the passage was made in 32 days. He expects to return to Portland about the 1st of June. From the letter we learn that the Alden Besse, under command of Capt. A. Noyes, sailed from Hongkong for New York, with a No. 1 cargo, about the 28th of January last.

INDIAN MUMMY.—A genuine Cathlamet Indian mummy was found in a recess in a mountain back of Cathlamet, W. T., and donated to Wood's Museum, April 5, 1875, by Mr. W. J. Warren, a well-known citizen of Portland. This was, without doubt, the child of a wealthy Indian chief, as it wears a wampum for a necklace worth, with the Indians, $2,500. This, too, is the first established and genuine Indian mummy ever discovered or put on exhibition.

CYLINDER HEAD DAMAGED.—On the last trip of the steamer California down from Sitka the cylinder head was fractured. It was thought for a while that the steamer would be disabled in consequence of the accident. Mr. Fox, the engineer, patched the head up and with care contrived to make the machinery run until the steamer reached here. The damaged portion of the engine has been taken off and a new head will be cast.

FIRE ALARM.—About 5 o'clock last evening the fire companies centered in the neighborhood of First and Stark streets, but their services were not required. A dense smoke in the rooms over the Delmonico restaurant caused by the burning of the ceiling where the chimney issued from the building, was the immediate cause of the alarm. No damage was done worth mentioning.

PASSENGERS AND FREIGHT EXCHANGED.—Yesterday the steamer Dixie Thompson did not proceed further down the river than Oak Point. At that place she connected with the steamer Emma Hayward, when all the passengers and freight were transferred to the latter boat, she returning to Astoria, and the Dixie coming up to Portland. From date the regular trips will be made as heretofore.

NEW JIB-BOOM.—Several ship-carpenters are engaged in making a new jib-boom for the bark Rival, at the foot of F street. It will be remembered that the Rival was blown against a wharf at Astoria during the terrible gale about two weeks ago, and had the jib-boom carried away.

CHINOOK SALMON.—Chas. A. Malarkey, of the New York Market, [illegible] Washington, received last night the largest and finest lot that has yet come to town. He is selling 3 pounds for 25 cents.

L. R. S.—The Ladies' Relief Society will meet to-day at 2 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

STATE CAPITOL BUILDING.—The Salem Record says: "The bids for furnishing the lumber and doing the carpenter-work of the State Capitol were opened to-day, and the lowest bids were John Odderkirk, of Portland, $1,890; and for lumber, Capital Lumbering Company, of Salem, $4,535 37½. The bids for work ranged from $5,060 down to $1,890. The contracts let to this time aggregate about $40,000, which is about what the commissioners have at their disposal the present year. There will also be the cost of tin for the roof to be added, and something for hauling. The commissioners will get the roof on, joists and timbers set, and all that is necessary done to enclose the building, and with the amount at their disposal next year they will finish up the interior as much as possible, and provide for the meeting of the legislature."

NEW TELEGRAPHIC LINE.—A letter was recently received from Mr. Gamble, written at San Francisco. The letter stated that the Western Union Telegraph Company had been seriously agitating the subject of building a line up into Idaho Territory. From the letter it is to be inferred that the company have determined to construct the line; and work will probably commence in a few months. The new line will start at or near Winnemucca and extend through to Boise City, a distance of 250 miles. This line will probably run through the same region of country as the line which has already been built. Mr. Gamble also intimates in his letter that the company have been considering the feasibility and advisability of continuing the line from Boise City on to this city down the Columbia.

DEPARTED.—Gen. O. O. Howard, accompanied by Lieut. Boyle and Capt. Sumner, started yesterday morning for Umatilla. In company with the officers mentioned, Gen. Howard will visit the Indian reservation at Umatilla, and also at Walla Walla. Capt. Sumner and Lieut. Boyle will proceed no further than the last place mentioned. Gen. Howard will proceed from Walla Walla to Fort Colville, for the purpose of inspecting that post. He will be absent from the city probably a month. Major H. Clay Wood, assistant adjutant general, will assume temporary command of the department of the Columbia during the absence of Gen. Howard.

CHILD BURNED.—A little girl, aged about 3 years, the daughter of a Mrs. McBirnie, residing in the upper portion of the city, was badly burned a few evenings since. The mother had occasion to leave the child for a few minutes alone in the room. During the mother's absence the child obtained some matches and, pulling them, set its clothes on fire. The child's cries speedily brought the mother to the rescue. With much difficulty the fire was extinguished, but not till the child was severely burned under the arms and on one side of the face. Although the injuries are quite severe they are not regarded as necessarily dangerous.

LECTURE AND DEBATE.—Quite an interesting meeting was held by the Philomethean Society at their rooms last evening. The entertainment was opened by a lecture well worded and delivered in good style by Mr. Rice, on the subject of "The Indian." This was followed by a debate in which the members present all participated. The question discussed was the introduction of the Bible in the public schools, and it was handled quite skillfully. The Society, in a quiet and unostentatious way, is doing much for the mental improvement of its members and is an honor to the young men who sustain it.

FROM HONGKONG.—We were shown a letter yesterday received by Mr. O. S. Phelps from Capt. Cyrus Noyes, of the bark Garibaldi. The letter was from Hongkong, under date of Feb. 9, 1875. Capt. Noyes states that he had a long and boisterous passage from Astoria to the Sandwich Islands. From the Islands to Hongkong fair winds were encountered, and the passage was made in 32 days. He expects to return to Portland about the 1st of June. From the letter we learn that the Alden Besse, under command of Capt. A. Noyes, sailed from Hongkong for New York, with a No. 1 cargo, about the 25th of January last.

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION.

W. H. BAKER EXAMINED IN POLICE COURT ON THE CHARGE OF MURDER.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning the preliminary examination of W. H. Baker, charged with the murder of Leonidas Stewart, commenced in police court. Long before the court opened, or the prisoner made his appearance, the room was packed by spectators. District Attorney H. Y. Thompson and Chas. A. Ball, Esq., appeared in behalf of the State, and E. A. Cronin for the defendant. Baker, the defendant, looked very pale, but otherwise he appeared cool and collected. During the progress of the examination he appeared to take a lively interest in what was transpiring, but did not at any time betray the least nervousness. The first witness called to the stand on the part of the prosecution was

DAVID BROWN,

Who, it will be remembered, was engaged in a game of cards with Baker when the homicide occurred. Brown testified as follows: I live in Portland, and am the proprietor of the Bank Exchange saloon. I know Baker, the defendant, and the deceased, Stewart; have known the latter about three years; saw both of them at my saloon on the evening of April 3d. On that evening I was engaged in playing a game of casino with Baker. We had been playing about half or three-quarters of an hour when Stewart entered the saloon. He came into the room where we were playing, and made the remark to Baker: "That is a stinker play," alluding to a move which he had just made. Baker, without stopping, said, "Don't bother me now." Stewart answered him in an angry manner, "I am not speaking to you, sir." Baker said, "Don't interfere here now; you bother me, and I can't keep the run of the cards." To this Stewart retorted, "You are making too much money and are a little too cunning; you will have to be taken down a peg." Baker again requested Stewart to go away and not interfere in the game, when the latter said: "I can whip you, or any s— of a b—h that looks like you." At this, Baker dropped his cards and rose up suddenly from the table. Stewart was standing just behind him, and, as Baker turned around, they both clinched. They struggled around the room, upsetting the chairs and table. Presently Stewart backed Baker up in one corner of the room, when I heard the latter say, "Oh, my eye." They were both struggling desperately; Baker was rather under; saw Stewart have his hand about Baker's face; think he had his fingers in his eye. About this time I saw the flash of a pistol and heard the report. The flash was down towards the floor; I think the bullet went through the floor. In a few seconds I heard another report, not so loud as the first. After the first shot I walked into the bar-room. When the second shot was fired Stewart loosened his hold on Baker and started toward the front door. He reached the door and put out his hand toward it, when he staggered and fell backward. Stewart never spoke a word after the second shot. I did not see anything in his hand; when the body was searched afterward no weapon was found on his person. Saw Stewart strike defendant several times during the scuffle. Did not see pistol in defendant's hands until after the shooting. [The pistol was then shown the witness, who identified it as the one which he saw in the hands of defendant immediately after the second shot.] I saw defendant's eye after the shooting; it was swollen much and looked bad. Defendant kept his hand up to his eye and seemed to be suffering very much with the pain. He asked me to tie a handkerchief over it, which I did.

GEORGE CHAMBERLIN

Was the next witness called. He testified: I have known Stewart for about three years; was in the Bank Exchange Saloon on the evening of April 3d, and saw deceased and defendant; it was about 10 o'clock, I think; I entered the saloon and began to converse with the barkeeper, George Collins; had been talking but a few minutes when I heard loud and angry voices in the back room, and an instant later somebody scuffling; I heard some words used in the room, but could not distinguish what was said; ceased to talk with barkeeper and went back; saw Baker and deceased clinched and fiercely struggling; Stewart had one hand over defendant's left eye as if he was gouging it; saw them scuffling over the table, and afterwards in one corner; saw Stewart strike defendant in the face while he was in the corner. Immediately after the blow, saw the flash of a pistol towards the floor. Supposing it was an accidental shot, I concluded that it was dangerous to be standing in the room, and stepped into the wood-room, just to the rear of the one where the men were fighting. Five or ten seconds later I heard another report, and stepping out observed Stewart walking towards the front door and then, throwing up both hands, fell backward to the floor. Did not hear him speak after the second shot was fired.

JOHN WALL

Was called and testified: I was in the faro room of the Bank Exchange Saloon on Friday evening: Stewart came into the room where I was sitting; had some conversation with him. He said he was out of luck and could not make a winning. Soon after he went into the adjoining room, where Brown and defendant were playing casino. In a few minutes I heard a loud noise, as if chairs and tables were being upset. Went to the door and saw Stewart and defendant struggling; did not hear a word spoken while they were scuffling, except defendant, who said, "Oh! my eye;" went towards them with the intention of separating them, when I saw the flash of a pistol. I stepped back into the faro room, and in a few seconds later heard another report, which sounded muffled and dead-like. Stewart let go after the second discharge, and walked away toward the front door of the saloon.

OFFICER HAINE.

Testified: I was in my room in the Occidental Hotel about 10 minutes to 10 o'clock when I heard a pistol shot in the saloon below me. The next minute I heard a crash, as if a window was broken and knowing that there was a row, I ran down and came round to the saloon. When I came up, I saw Baker standing on the sidewalk in front of the saloon. I looked through the broken glass in the front door, and saw Stewart lying on his back in the saloon either dead or dying. I asked who had done the deed, when Baker spoke up and said he had. I took him under arrest, and called for the pistol, which was handed me by the barkeeper. I then took defendant to jail. Just as I came up to the door of the saloon, I heard Baker say that Stewart had torn his eye out.

DR. CURTIS C. STRONG

Was called to the stand and gave testimony as to the character of the wound which he found on the body of the deceased at the coroner's inquest. [The substance of the medical testimony was published in yesterday's OREGONIAN.] Dr. Strong had been called to examine the injuries sustained by defendant's eye, at the time of the homicide, and gave his evidence in the matter.

GEORGE COLLINS,

On being called, testified: Am bar-keeper at Bank Exchange saloon; was talking with Mr. Chamberlin on Friday evening about 10 o'clock; heard some loud conversation in the room where defendant and Brown were engaged at a game of cards; could not hear everything which was said, but caught some of the words; heard Stewart say, "I am not speaking to you, sir; I do not talk with your kind, or any s— of a b—h like you." Looked in the room through the open door, and saw deceased standing behind defendant's chair; heard a moment later a loud noise like persons fighting; went to the door and saw both men holding to each other and struggling violently; saw a flash and heard a report; supposed it was an accidental shot, and went into the front room; just then heard a muffled report, and the next instant saw Stewart enter the bar-room and walk toward the front door. He reached it, and staggering, fell to the floor; did not utter a word.

Chamberlin, Brown and Wall were re-called and examined by counsel for defense as to the general reputation for peace and order of the deceased. Counsel for the State objected to the question. It was argued at some length, and finally admitted by the court. These witnesses all testified that they had been acquainted with deceased for several years, and that so far as they knew, his reputation was bad.

Both prosecution and defense here rested the case.

Mr. Ball made the opening argument in behalf of the prosecution, and was followed by E. A. Cronin for the defense. District Attorney Thompson made the closing argument in favor of the State.

At the conclusion of the argument by opposing counsel, the court took the matter under advisement until this morning at 10 o'clock.

SOMETHING NEW.

The new style of promenade photographs! These beautiful pictures are now made at Bosco & Megler's new rooms, Nos. 127 and 129, First street. Call and examine them.

SCHOOL ELECTION.

Yesterday afternoon the annual school election for District No. 1, came off at Masonic Temple. The following is the result:

DIRECTOR.
W. S. Ladd	511
J. S. Giltner	1
Ladd's majority	510
CLERK.
G. W. Murray	265
J. D. Holman	225
R. Bird	27
Murray's plurality	42

The whole number of votes cast was 517.

For director the vote was practically unanimous, only one vote being cast for any other person than W. S. Ladd, Esq., whom everybody seemed to consider just the man for the position.

Of the three candidates for clerk of the district, Mr. Bird had made no particular effort, while the friends of both the others had been pretty well stirred up and were quite active. On that account it soon became apparent that either Mr. Holman or Mr. Murray would receive the plurality, and many of Mr. Bird's friends seeing the improbability of being able to secure their favorite candidate, concluded to choose between the other two. We do not pretend to say that had Mr. Bird been less modest and rallied his friends to his support, he would certainly have been elected; but we think only a rash person would venture to say certainly that he would not have been. The contest was between three first-rate men, and the people are satisfied with the result, as they would have been had either of the other candidates been the fortunate one.

MILITARY NOTES.

The following orders have just been issued by Gen. Howard:

Capt. George H. Burton, 21st Infantry, is appointed to act as inspector on certain subsistence stores, at Fort Townsend, W. T., for which 2d Lieutenant Charles A. Williams, 21st Infantry, post commissary of subsistence, is accountable, reported the 29th ult. as requiring the action of an inspector.

Colonel Frank Wheaton, 2d Infantry, is appointed to act as inspector on certain quartermaster's stores, and camp and garrison equipage, at Fort Walla Walla, W. T., for which Captain David Perry, 1st Cavalry, commanding company F, is accountable, reported the 24th ult. as requiring the action of an inspector.

Col. Frank Wheaton, 21st Infantry, is appointed to act as inspector on certain ordnance and ordnance stores, and camp and garrison equipage, at Fort Walla Walla, W. T., for which 1st Lieutenant John M. Ross, 21st Infantry, commanding company B, is accountable, reported the 24th ult. as requiring the action of an inspector.

Colonel Frank Wheaton, 2d Infantry, is appointed to act as inspector on certain ordnance and ordnance stores, quartermaster's stores, and camp and garrison equipage, at Fort Walla Walla, W. T., for which Captain Moses Harris, 1st Cavalry, commanding company M, is accountable, reported the 24th ult. as requiring the action of an inspector.

Colonel Frank Wheaton, 2d Infantry, is appointed to act as inspector on certain subsistence stores, quartermaster's stores, and camp and garrison equipage, at Fort Walla Walla, W. T., for which 1st Lieutenant Ebenezer W. Stone, 21st Infantry, post commissary of subsistence and post quartermaster, is accountable, reported the 24th ult. as requiring the action of an inspector.

At his request, approved by the medical director, the contract of Acting Assistant Surgeon Fred. W. Sparling is annulled, to take effect upon the receipt of this order at the post of Fort Townsend; the post commander will report the date of annulment to the medical director. According to the terms of his contract Dr. Sparling is entitled to mileage to Washington City. The medical director will take proper measures to provide the troops at Fort Townsend with necessary medical attendance.

BASE BALL.

Agreeable to announcement the Pioneer B. B. C. met and elected the following officers for the ensuing season: Jos. Buchtel, President; Richard Bird, Vice President; John Raleigh, Secretary. There was quite a number of the friends of the club present. The meeting adjourned to the first Monday in May, when the organization will be completed.

At the annual meeting of the Arcadian Base Ball Club, held last evening, the following gentlemen were chosen officers for the ensuing year: President, Wm. Church, Jr.; Vice-President, Henry McCraken; Secretary, Harry J. McCormick; Treasurer, Charles Christie; Captain of the First Nine, Henry McCraken; Second, Chas. Christie. Settled weather has come, and the nine will soon be out practicing for the contests of the base ball season. The boys propose to "carry the colors" this year if possible.

AMUSEMENTS.

On Friday evening a musical and literary concert will be given at Masonic Temple by the pupils of the Portland Academy.

NEW MARKET THEATER.—This ever popular place of amusement was well patronized last evening. Charles Lever's popular dramatization of "Charles O'Malley," or "The Irish Dragoon," was produced in a dashing and spirited manner. Mr. Herne appeared in the comical role of "Micky Free," a character in which he could scarcely be surpassed. The remainder of the cast was judiciously made, and the respective characters sustained very satisfactorily. This evening the same bill will be repeated. It is a rollicking play, and every one who relishes a good hearty laugh should not fail to go to-night.

The observing man must have noted a change in the establishment of BECK & WALDMAN. The last steamer brought them quite a large invoice of Spring Styles, which they are having displayed for the inspection of their numerous customers. They will continue to offer the public the best bargains. As usual the stock of Youth's clothing is varied and parents may find many new things that will be sure to please. Drop in this evening.

THE GERMAN FAIR.

Last evening the Fair at the Skating Rink, under the auspices of the German Aid Society, was commenced under most favorable circumstances, the large hall being well filled. We have already described the appearance of the hall, and nothing more is necessary on that point. Everything is arranged conveniently. The central portion of the room is filled with the contributed articles well displayed, among which we observed a handsome opera cloak, the work of Mrs. Henry Everding; a silver fruit basket; two easy chairs, presented by the O. F. M. Co. and the employes of that company; two dressing gowns and an order for a suit of clothing from Neimeyer & Utter. These are only a few of the many articles exhibited, each of which is numbered prominently. The postoffice is one of the first stands the visitor passes, and it is not long ere a pretty miss calls upon you with a missive duly addressed, for which a small fee is solicited. You cannot refuse, but proceed to pay all dues and pass on to the prize table, where you can purchase or take your chances, on procuring an admission ticket, by a device which can be operated with perfect ease by a mere child. A wheel of fortune next attracts your attention; then the confectionery stand, and a little further on the lunch rooms. Proceeding to the south side, you find other wheels of fortune, and finally, near the door, the flower stand. These stands are, of course, presided over by the ladies, who simply ask you to invest, but nothing more, it being decided upon to leave the visitor to use his own judgment in the distribution of his spare cash. During the evening the Portland Band discoursed excellent music, and occasionally the Turners sang a selection. The room is illy lighted, and consequently appears somewhat dreary; besides this, it was quite uncomfortable, being insufficiently provided with stoves to make the place warm. We presume the managers will make the necessary provision, and thus render the hall more attractive and congenial. To-night the Portland Band will be present, and the attractions of a more entertaining nature. The Aurora Band will play on Wednesday evening. The fair may be put down as a success from the very opening of the doors.

FROM OREGON CITY.

Our regular correspondent at Oregon City kindly furnishes us the following:

The weather is intensely cold, for April, and and the Wallamet is raging.

David Smith is having built, on Main street, a large blacksmith and wheelwright shop. For a blacksmith shop it will be rather pretentious. It will be sixty feet long, thirty feet wide and two stories in hight.

The young man Richard E. Williams, who was so badly hurt in the flouring mill three weeks ago, died last night. The last few days of his life were days of intense suffering. He will be buried on Wednesday next. The funeral ceremony will be conducted by Rev. G. H. Atkinson, of your city.

A man, a deck hand on the steamer Dayton, Samuel Newman by name, was drowned in the O. S. Co.'s basin at this place on last Saturday under the following circumstances: Since the rise in the waters of Wallamet the current which comes into the basin is too strong for a steamboat to stem, it being impossible for a steamboat to get out of the basin with the unaided power of steam. Consequently they have to "line" out. This the Dayton was doing on Saturday, having a line fastened near the head of the basin, and three men at the capstan drawing her up slowly. Just before the accident occurred the boat was on the east side of the basin, but taking a "sheer" it shot swiftly to the other side. The strain on the line was so great that the "falls" at the bottom of the capstan broke loose, when the capstan began to revolve with incredible velocity. All the men who were working it were knocked down, two of them on the deck, but Newman was knocked overboard into the swift current. He was seen to rise once, but soon sank to rise no more. Diligent search has been made to find his body, but up to date it has not been recovered. He leaves a wife and three small children in Canemah to whom the blow falls with peculiar hardship, as financially he was in very poor circumstances. Some of our citizens have taken the matter in hand and have raised about $300 for the support of the family.

POLICE COURT NOTES.

T. W. Davis, drunk, fined $5; committed for three days.

Eva Smith and Ellen Robinson, for indulging in a "jamboree," were each fined $10, which they liquidated.

Edward Larkins and John McDonald, two sailors, for fighting on the streets, were arrested yesterday afternoon and lodged in jail.

John Collins, for shameless exposure of his person, was fined $15 by the court. John did not think it was a righteous judgment, but he "pungled" over the requisite "scads," and was sent away in peace.

The Spring time has come, and with it new Goods to our enterprising merchants. The styles are much changed in clothing, and the dull times have worked a change in prices too, so much so, that persons with limited means can invest liberally. J. KOHN, opposite National Bank, is among the first to introduce the latest styles from the Eastern markets. He has an immense stock which is well worth looking through. Call and see the new stock.

THE RAILROAD FEVER!

EVERYBODY IS ANXIOUS TO HAVE A RAILroad connection with the East, and the present outlook is very encouraging. It will bring new people and new enterprises will be inaugurated, thus improving affairs generally in Oregon. No one should send money out of the State for articles they can procure as cheap and as suitable here. Home industry should at all times be patronized. JOHNSON & QUINN are receiving New Goods by every steamer, and having had experience in Europe and in the Eastern States for years, feel fully qualified to make up Clothing equal in every particular to any that can be procured in New York or San Francisco. Orders need not be forwarded abroad while they are able to do the work in first class style at prices to compare with eastern manufacturers' figures. They are manufacturing daily as good fitting and as stylish suits as can be found anywhere. Recollect the place and give your orders to them. Send no more money out of the State for fine fitting clothing while this firm can guarantee perfect satisfaction in every particular.

SISTER, I'LL REMEMBER THEE.

Childhood's home we shared together,
Hand in hand we plucked its flowers;
Sunny skies and stormy weather,
Shared our fleeting youthful hours.
All its cares as well as pleasures,
Thou did'st sweetly share with me—
'Mong the dearest of life's treasures,
Sister, I'll remember thee.

Sharing smiles and tears together,
Lengthened years have come and gone,
And their changes, often bitter,
We in mutual love have borne.
But should life its arrows double,
All its pleasures blasted be,
In the darkest hour of trouble,
Sister, I'll remember thee.

Should the Savior call thee homeward,
First in glory bright to rise;
First, to join those dearest loved ones,
Who have left us for the skies;
Thy meek spirit bright, oft lingering
Round my home, methinks I see,
As my watchful, guardian angel—
Sister, then I'll think of thee.

Then I'll linger where you're sleeping,
Listening close to hear you call,
While thy spirit's gentle breathings,
On my heart in music falls,
And thy sweet, angelic whisperings—
Oh, how cheering then to me,
In this sweet and blest assurance,
Sister, I'll remember thee.

But that whisper—some thing tells me,
Of the rapid flight of time,
And it speaks of my departure,
Even nearer still than thine.
Should the Savior sooner call me,
And from earth my spirit free,
In that home of light or glory,
Sister, I'll remember thee.

Fare thee well; perchance we never—
Never here may meet again;
But can time or distance sever,
Deathless love's cemented chain?
No! our hearts in sweetest union,
Mingling still where'er we be,
Bound in friendship's sweet communion,
Sister, I'll remember thee.

Even death shall not divide us,
For in Jesus we are one,
And we'll praise him there together,
Midst that bright and shining throng.
In that sweet and heavenly union,
Where the ransomed all agree,
Spirit there with spirit mingling,
Sister, I'll remember thee.

HUMOROUS.

Played out—A retired actor.

Down in the mouth—Your throat.

A clear case—An empty dry-goods box.

A person who wags his head is a wag.

Chairs should not be covered with silk, but with sat-in.

If a pair of spectacles could speak, what historian would they name? Eusebius.

"I am a broken man!" sighed a dilapidated author. "I should think so, for I've seen your pieces," responded a bystander.

A rude fellow told Barnum that he had never exhibited anything that was not a bare-faced humbug. "Yes, I have," said Barnum, "the bearded lady wasn't bare-faced."

"Tom, you seem to gain flesh every day—the grocery business must agree with you. What did you weigh last?" "Well, Simon, I really forget now, but it strikes me it was a pound of butter."

"See," said a sorrowing wife, "how peaceful the cat and dog are." "Yes," said the petulant husband, "but just tie them together and then see how the fur will fly."

Lady teacher—"You must recollect that all I am telling you happened one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four years ago." Sally—"Lor', miss! How the time do slip away!"

"Why, Ichabod, I thought you got married more'n a year ago!" "Well, aunt Jerusha, it was talked of, but I found out that the girl and all her folks were opposed to it, so I just give 'em all the mitten and let the thing drop."

Waiter—"Gentlemen, will you be kind enough to make less noise? There his a gent in next box says 'e can't read." One of the gentlemen—"Can't read, eh! He ought to be ashamed of himself! Tell him to go to the school board."

The Abbe Provost solicited the office of chaplain to the Prince de Conti. "But I never go to mass," replied the Prince. "And I never celebrate it," added the Abbe. "In that case you have the appointment," responded the Prince.

"Washington," exclaimed a member of a Nashville debating club, in stentorian tones—"Washington was a great man; he was a good man; he was a noble man; his mind had a powerful grasp of the future; if ever a man was non compos mentis, Washington was that man."

A widow, being cautioned by her minister about flirting, said that she knew it was wrong for maidens and wives to flirt, but the Bible was her authority. It said, "Widow's mite." She was flirting awfully at the last accounts; her pastor acknowledged that "widow's might."

"Do you see that gal over there?" asked a native Georgian of a traveler. "Yes," was the reply. "Wall, though she ain't twenty years old yet, stranger, that gal raised a large family. 'Twasn't her own, though, it was her mother-in-law's, and she raised it with a keg of gunpowder in the cellar."

British parson and commercial traveler in the cars (conversation slow). Usual question: "What line are you in?" Parson answers, with a faint joke, that he is "in the spiritual line." "Ha, ha," says the other, "blessed if I didn't think so. But, I say, what a — of a price you have got gin up to."

"Herbert," said a perplexed mother, "why is it that you are not a better boy?" "Well," said the little fellow, soberly, looking up into her face with his honest blue eyes, "I suppose the real reason is that I don't want to be!" We think the child gave the true reason why all of us, big as well as little, are not better than we are.

As a Louisville girl was taking leave of a gentleman at her father's house one evening recently she said to him: "If you ever hear that I am in the habit of allowing my male acquaintances to kiss me good-bye, you mustn't believe it, as I seldom allow such liberties." The close of that interview may be imagined.

A Chicago lover went to visit his girl one evening recently, but for some reason she received and treated him coolly. He remained, standing in the parlor a few moments, but finally made a movement towards the door, remarking that he guessed he'd go. "Oh!" said she, starting from a beautiful condition of semi-consciousness, "won't you take a chair?" "Well, I don't care if I do," was the reply, and he took the chair, thanking her kindly, and carried it home. He says it is a good chair, made of walnut, with stuffing and green cover—just what he wanted.

As if Providence had doubts of the assembled wisdom of the U. S. Supreme Court, the other day an owl suddenly appeared in their midst. It came down the chimney and perched itself at the right hand of the Chief Justice without saying a word and there it sat all day, blinking, winking and gravely listening to stupid pleas, nodding comfortably between times, and altogether performing the duties of the bench with due decorum. No one disturbed the new associate, but when the other owls waked up at evening, and went home, he, too, shook off the dust of ages and went up the chimney. An attendant immediately stopped up the fire-place, and put up a notice, "No outside owls hereafter permitted in the Supreme Court chambers."

A perusal of our exchanges from the East will convince any that whether the predictions are realized or not, there is a strong confidence in the general revival of commercial matters at no distant day. Even that eminently conservative journal, the New York Nation, is confident that the depressing effects of the panic are at last substantially over; and that with the growth of spring there is to be a general renewal of business life and activity. The Chicago Tribune has been interviewing the different business firms in that city, and reports a very flattering prospect in all branches of trade, and it says its report can be relied upon as authoritative, it being obtained in person. The Troy Times gives an account of the status of the various manufacturing and commercial interests there, which shows a decidedly improved prospect for the opening season in both branches of industry. The Boston Globe says the indications on all sides are that the general trade of that city is much better than it was a year ago this time, and that, no doubt with the disappearance of the snow and the advent of mild, settled weather, merchants will experience a fair spring trade. The general merchandise markets, from week to week, show a decided tendency for the better. It was predicted that the 1st of April, which is so largely a settlement day throughout New England, would usher in a period of great activity in that section. In several of the towns of Massachusetts factories are reported as running on extra time. In the West the farmers are in a much better condition than was generally supposed, while the reports of many of the railroads of that section show increased earnings. In New York the spring trade is reported to be progressing favorably now in all directions, only requiring a few days' steady weather to set all the wheels in motion.

Then, too, the late advance in wheat in England and on the continent has started an upward movement in prices here, which will cause an active movement in grain from the farmers' hands to the lake ports and the seaboard as soon as roads in the country will permit of stuff being hauled to the railroads. The farmers still hold a large portion of last year's wheat crop, refusing to sell freely at the low prices of last fall and winter. The indications are favorable for a good export demand for wheat in the future, which, coupled with the recent advance in price, certainly strengthens the theory that our surplus crops will be marketed during the spring and summer, which cannot be done without giving a sharp impetus to general business.

The recent call of the Secretary of the Treasury for $30,000,000 5-20 bonds on account of the sinking fund, has also had a good effect in financial and business circles, and assisted the revival of confidence which had previously set in. The neglect of the national sinking fund and the default of interest by our railroads in 1873 and 1874 greatly damaged our credit in Europe, but the action of the Secretary in holding the sinking fund sacred will do much to restore this credit abroad to its former high standard, and so increase the confidence of European capitalists in our securities as, it is to be hoped, to revive their export once more.

In our home market business has ruled quite dull during the season, which is a very backward one for Oregon, but the indications are now good for more spring-like weather, and a better state of trade matters growing out of the change from storm to sunshine. The stiff prices now ruling here for wheat will (with good roads) soon bring into the market quite a large amount of the remaining wheat and oat surplus, most of which it has been impossible to market while the rains continued.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The market in this cereal is dull to-day, and buyers seem to be as indifferent as holders. Quotations still rule at $1 40 ℔ cental, but the feeling is not so firm as at the close of last week. There are no vessels here to load wheat or flour, except the Arauco, and her cargo is engaged. The Sussex, Lennox Castle and Pactolus, at Astoria, have also their full cargoes purchased, and will have quick dispatch. Other vessels are about due, and by the time farmers are ready to haul to the railroad or river, tonnage will probably be at hand.

FLOUR—The supply at hand is ample for the local trade, but receipts are slightly falling off. The cargo of the Arauco is being placed aboard. Quotations are firm at $4 40 ℔ bbl for standard extras, $4@4 25 for good outside brands, and $3 75 for superfine.

OATS—There are but few lots coming to hand, and transactions are dull. Offers of 45c ℔ bushel are made to-day, with no sellers. The surplus is getting very low along the river and railroads, and until the country roads are in better condition, receipts are likely to continue, as now, very light.

BARLEY—There is a good demand for choice lots for the local trade and for shipment. We quote choice for brewing, $1 35@1 40 per cwt; common, $1 25@1 30.

MILL FEED—There is a scarcity of bran, shorts and middlings, but chopped feed is in fair supply. We quote jobber's prices for bran at $13@14 per ton, middlings $27@29, shorts $20.

HAY—Is still in moderate request at $19@21 per ton for timothy, with a decline in the receipts. Wild hay finds slow sale at $7@7 50.

POTATOES—There is a fair demand for good lots for shipment at 72½@75c per bushel, the range of quotations being 70@75c.

ONIONS—The market is in fair supply, and the demand dull at $1@1 25 ℔ 100 pounds for choice assorted.

APPLES, RIPE—The receipts are again becoming reduced, and choice lots are scarcer. However, the inquiry for shipping is not very active, and the local demand is fully supplied at 75c@$1 ℔ box, according to quality.

APPLES DRIED—The trade is inactive but prices are nominally steady at 5c@ ℔, in sacks, and 6c in kegs.

BACON—There is something of a firmer tone to the market, but no important appreciation in prices since our last review. We note sales of sides at 11c ℔ ℔; shoulders, 8@9c; hams, 14c; the latter properly quotable at 13@15c.

LARD—There is a fair demand for good quality in tins and kegs, quotable at 14c ℔ ℔ in the former, and 13c in kegs.

EGGS—Owing to light demand for shipping any considerable increase in receipts would soon send prices below 18c ℔ doz, at which we now quote.

BUTTER—The market is bare of choice lots, and short on all saleable qualities. We quote at 40c per ℔ for best roll, and 30@35c for common.

CHICKENS—Good lots quotable at $4 50; choice, $4 75@5 per dozen; common, $3 75@4 25.

DRESSED HOGS—The packing season having closed, the only demand is for the home trade and is not brisk at 6@6½c ℔ ℔.

BEEF CATTLE—There have been but few arrivals of choice lots during the past week, and for such, prices have advanced to 6@6½ cts ℔ ℔ net on foot; ordinary quotable at 6@5¼c.

MUTTON SHEEP—There is a scarcity of choice in the market and butchers are compelled to pay $4@4 50 per head for such; common quotable at $3 25@4.

HIDES AND FURS—A duller demand for shipping purposes prevails and receipts are light. We quote for choice dry 16½c ℔ ℔; green salted, 7c; green, 6½c; culls, 10@12; elk, 22c ℔ ℔; deer, 18@35c ℔ ℔ dried, and 50@75c apiece green; mink skins each, $1@1 50; otter, $2@5; beaver, 75c@$1.

WOOL—Very few transactions are taking place; best grades quotable at 20@22c ℔ ℔; common to fair lots, 16@18c.

San Francisco Markets.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Flour—$5; $5 37½.
Wheat—Choice grades, $1 55@1 67½.
Barley—Feed, $1 40; brewing, $1 50@1 52½.
Oats—$1 50@1 75.
Hay—Common to choice, $10@16.
Potatoes—Choice, $2.

EXPORTS.

Per Ajax, for San Francisco, dispatched April 4th by O. S. S. Co.: 4,850 ¼ sks flour, 776 sks potatoes, 1,508 bxs apples, 40 cs hams and bacon, 119 pkgs China wine, 670 bdls hoops, 25 bbls pork, 12 bbls cider, 1 pkg woolen goods, 160 pkgs hides and peltry, 31 pkgs dried fruit, 115 bxs eggs, 8 bxs butter, and 74 doors for Palace Hotel.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Oriflamme will be due from San Francisco to-morrow evening.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhea, arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching, and dandruff, and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

Buckingham's Dye,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown, or black at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.
